BUDDY AND LUNA

Buddy was a loyal and energetic golden retriever who loved to play fetch with his owner, Sam. They would go to the park every day to enjoy the fresh air and the exercise. On the way there Sam usually put him on a leash to stop him from running onto the road. Sam had also considered buying a harness for comfort because the dog didn't like his collar and was pulling strongly when they walked the streets. Buddy was always happy to be with Sam, wagging his tail and licking his face.

One day, Sam brought home a surprise for Buddy: a new puppy named Luna. She was a cute mixed breed dog from the local kennel and wanted to play with everything. Buddy was curious about her, but also a bit jealous. He started to growl and snap at Luna whenever she came near him or his toys. However, after some training, Buddy gradually warmed up to Luna and realised that she was fun to play with. Eventually they became inseparable, sleeping together in the same bed and sharing their food and toys.
